'Guilty, your honour'

- Cops found more than 500 child porn images on bishop's electronic devices
- Lahey, returning from trip to Thailand and Indonesia, caught by airport border guard

Former Roman Catholic Bishop Raymond Lahey asked to go directly to jail after he pleaded guilty yesterday to "importing" child pornography.

Lahey, 70, the former head of the diocese in Antigonish, N.S., was caught at the Ottawa airport in September 2009 with photos of boys involved in sexual acts.

"Guilty, your honour," Lahey said, in response to the charge that he "did, without lawful excuse, possess for the purposes of importation child pornography in the form of graphic computer images."

Those images included sex acts performed on and by pubescent boys, Crown prosecutor David Elhadad read in an agreed statement of facts.

His lawyer, Michael Edelson, told the court Lahey wanted to give up his right to bail and be incarcerated.

"My client feels, deeply and profoundly, remorse and guilt about what he has done and the offence to which he has pleaded," said Edelson. "To signal to the court the sincerity and genuineness of his remorse, he wants to be in jail as of today's date."

Residents oppose bus route change

Some Glebe residents have signed a petition opposing the city's plans to reroute OC Transpo buses 1 and 7 onto Holmwood Avenue and O'Connor Street to avoid construction on Bank Street later this month.

"They're putting huge city buses on a small residential street," said Klara Steele, who lives on O'Connor Street. "There's a risk having buses running around."

Steele is concerned about the safety of kids, including her own, who use the open park next to where the buses may run.

Capital Ward Coun. David Chernushenko said that only parts of the routes will be redirected as per contractor's needs. Reconstruction work on Bank Street is expected to last six months.

"OC Transpo will need to respond to that (on an ongoing basis). Parts of the routes will be modified throughout the project and we'll do our best to communicate that."

Construction worker killed in site collapse

Neighbour says crews were jackhammering for days before the concrete slab collapsed

JESSICA SMITH
@METRONEWS.CA

A 48-year-old construction worker died from his injuries after a concrete slab collapsed and fell on him while he was working at a home in Sandy Hill, Wednesday afternoon.

A second man, 36, suffered a fractured leg. Both were standing on the concrete slab, which covered a hole in the ground that once served as a cold storage room for the home at 18 Malborough Ave., said Ottawa Fire spokesman Marc Messier.

"The slab gave way, sending the two workers into the hole, which is about 10 feet deep, and the concrete followed suit right on top of them," Messier said. "It broke into two pieces and landed on top of one worker. It took us about 40 minutes to extricate him from underneath using some hydraulic jacks. We also had to stabilize the walls using some shoring equipment to protect the workers while they were rescuing him."

Paramedics were working on the man while firefighters were extricating him, said Jean Hamel, a spokesperson for the Ottawa Paramedic Service.

"I was driving up the street and saw the emergency vehicles and tape in front of my house and I started panicking."
NEIGHBOUR JASMIN LALANDE

"On arrival, he was making noise, he was obviously alive, but once they extricated him out there was no pulse on the patient," said Hamel.

The workers were employees of Hoskins Restoration Services.

The younger worker is in stable condition in hospital.

His wife, Micheline Legendre, has had the crippling disease for 22 years and uses a wheelchair to get around. Clouthier will walk for her on May 15 at the MS Walk, and with the store campaign he hopes to double the funds raised this year.

Fraudster's pitch piqued Ottawa

PM's ex-aide made top officials sit up and listen, document shows
Bruce Carson investigated by RCMP over allegations of illegal lobbying

A business pitch by convicted fraudster and ex-PMO aide Bruce Carson piqued the interest of senior political staff at Indian Affairs, a newly released document shows.

A note from a January meeting suggests top aides to minister John Duncan were considering Carson's proposal for a First Nations water filtration system.

The 65-year-old is now being investigated by the RCMP over allegations of illegal lobbying on behalf of an Ottawa-based water company that employed his 22-year-old girlfriend.

Indian Affairs says it has not awarded any contracts to H20 Global Group or its parent company, H20 Water Professionals, the firm for which Carson's girlfriend worked.

But a handwritten note from the Jan. 11 meeting suggests Carson's proposal interested political staff. But first they wanted to see how a similar project panned out in Ontario.

"At the current time, no $ to do pilot but we may want to do this after we get results of the NA," the note says. (It's unclear what "NA" stands for.)

"Ontario government is doing this and we are tag tailing with them."

The Canadian Press obtained the handwritten note under the Access to Information Act.

No one from the department, the minister's office or Ontario's Ministry of Aboriginal Affairs was immediately available to comment.

And neither Carson nor his lawyer returned a request for comment.

A spokesperson for H20 Global Group, Christine McPherson, who is also the mother of Carson's girlfriend, said the firm hasn't done any business with the Ontario government.

THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Carson file

- The Aboriginal Peoples Television Network aired a story about Carson's alleged lobbying of Indian Affairs and the minister's office on behalf of the company that employed his girlfriend, Michele McPherson.
- According to the network, Carson signed a contract last Aug. 31 that would entitle her to 20 per cent of the product's gross sales in a venture Carson was pushing.
- The company, H20 Global Group, says Carson never did any lobbying for it. The firm also says it cancelled McPherson's 20 per cent contract in February.
- Carson was convicted on five counts of fraud and received court-ordered psychiatric treatment before becoming one of Prime Minister Stephen Harper's closest advisers.
- He left the PMO in 2008 to head up the Canada School of Energy and Environment. But Carson took a leave of absence from that job after APTN's story aired.

MP jumps into politics — and a fuss

Quebecers are grumbling about the new local MP — and not just because she lives 300 kilometres away, didn't visit the riding to campaign, can't speak much French and spent part of the election vacationing in Las Vegas.

The anger is about Ruth Ellen Brosseau's nomination papers. Her opponents suggest they may have been falsified.

A man in the Berthier-Maskinonge riding says he was stunned to see his name and address listed on the papers filed by the NDP campaign. He doesn't recall giving his support.

The NDP has dismissed allegations of irregularities and says signatures were collected normally by door-to-door volunteers and by others who worked local gathering spots.

Bin Laden pics to stay private: Obama

AK-47s found in al-Qaida leader's hideaway Officials comb through flash drives, computer files and DVDS also found on scene

U.S. President Barack Obama said yesterday he has decided not to release death photos of Osama bin Laden because their graphic nature could incite violence and create security risks for the nation.

The president said that for anyone who does not believe bin Laden is dead, "we don't think that a photograph in and of itself is going to make any difference."

Photos taken by the U.S. Navy SEAL raiders show bin Laden shot in the head, officials have said.

Obama's decision came a day before his planned visit to Ground Zero to lay a wreath and visit with 9-11 families and responders.

It also came after a revised description of the circumstances of bin Laden's death.

After initially saying the terrorist was armed or even firing, the White House said Tuesday that bin Laden was unarmed, raising questions about the basis for the al-Qaida leader's killing.

Later U.S. officials said that the Navy SEALs who stormed bin Laden's compound shot him after they saw him appear to lunge for a weapon.

Osama killing fuels cyber spammers

Online thieves and spammers are using the killing of Osama bin Laden to send out malicious software and spam to unwitting Internet users.

In what's become common practice among the Internet's less savory citizens, these scammers are sending out emails and spreading Facebook posts that purport to be videos or photos of the dead bin Laden.

They are not. But by clicking the links, users can download computer viruses that steal personal information or otherwise infect their computers.

Computer security firm Symantec says one spam email contains a link to bogus photos and videos purporting to be from CNN Mexico. Instead, it directs people to a scam site designed to look like the real thing but created to steal passwords. Some Facebook users also fell victim to fake bin Laden links that then spread the links to their friends' pages on the site.

The FBI warned Internet users of the scams Tuesday. Yesterday, U.S. ] President Barack Obama said he has decided not to release photos of the dead bin Laden.

School bullies get plea deals

GORDON DANIELS/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ Kayla Narey, pictured in court, apologized through tears yesterday, saying she was so jealous she put aside the values her family had instilled in her.

Probation for teens whose taunts led to 15-year-old hanging herself

Two U.S. teens accused of harassing a 15-year-old Irish-born classmate who later hanged herself were sentenced yesterday to a year of probation.

It was the first of five anticipated plea deals in a case that drew worldwide attention to school bullying.

Phoebe Prince's crying mother approved the deals finalized in a Massachusetts court.

Sean Mulveyhill and Kayla Narey, both 18, were sentenced for their roles in the bullying that preceded Phoebe's suicide in January 2010.

Three other former South Hadley High School students were expected to accept similar plea arrangements today.

Prosecutors have said the bullying stemmed from four girls' anger about Phoebe's relationships with Mulveyhill, who was captain of the school's football team, and another popular boy.

Mulveyhill apparently goaded some of the girls to harangue Phoebe after he dumped her.

Phoebe hanged herself, telling a friend in a text: "I can't take much more. It would be easier if (someone) handed me a noose."

Fines will curb data breaches: Watchdog

Privacy commissioner says there's no incentive for companies to spend money on Internet security

Canada's privacy commissioner wants the power to impose "attention-getting fines" when major corporations fail to protect Canadians' personal information.

Jennifer Stoddart's statement comes in the wake of a massive security breach disclosed by Sony last week that may have affected more than 100 million PlayStation accounts.

"Too many companies are collecting more personal information than they are able to effectively protect," Stoddart said yesterday, adding that "large fines" might serve as an incentive to get corporations to meet their privacy obligations.

Meanwhile, Sony said yesterday that the company was "the victim of a very carefully planned, very professional, highly sophisticated criminal cyber attack designed to steal personal and credit card information for illegal purposes."

In a letter to the U.S. House Commerce Committee, Kazuo Hirai, chairman of Sony Computer Entertainment America LLC, defended Sony's handling of the data breach.

The company has shut down the affected systems while it investigates the attacks and beefs up security.

New Intel switches could revolutionize computers

A new "3-D" electronic switch on its chips will make computers even cheaper and more powerful, Intel Corp. announced yesterday.

The switches, known as transistors, have typically been flat. By adding a third dimension — "fins" that jut up from the base — Intel can make the transistors and chips smaller, which means they run on less power. That gives Intel its best shot yet at cracking the growing market for chips used in smartphones and tablet computers.

"This is definitely a revolutionary change," said Dan Hutcheson, CEO of VLSI Research Inc.

Intel has been experimenting with 3-D, or "tri-gate," transistors for nearly a decade. Now the company has figured out how to manufacture them cheaply in mass quantities. Chips with the 3-D transistors will be in production this year and appear in computers in 2012. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

IT'S ONLY ANGELS BOWLING

HE SAYS ...

JOHN MAZEROLLE
METRO

Some people say I'm scared of thunderstorms, but I'm afraid they're mistaken.

That my brain, my heart and my bladder forget about their usual restraint and teamwork whenever lightning approaches does not indicate I'm scared. As summer thunderstorm season approaches, I am merely cautious. Respectful of Mother Nature. Well attuned to the possibility of an imminent and painful death.

If you were to look at a cross-section of my brain, you would see many normal lobes — dedicated to such necessary guy functions as chore avoidance and retention of Wilf Paiement's NHL career totals. But where in a normal man you would find the area dedicated to time indexing of nudity in major motion pictures — the so-called charlizebellum — you would in me find a hyper vigilance toward electrical storms.

"When I hear thunder I courageously cover my head in blankets and courageously turn my iPod to full volume so that I might courageously pretend the storm is not happening."

And let me be clear: This is not a phobia. A phobia is an irrational fear. When I was a kid, I was scared of a thunderstorm's loud noises. That was a phobia. Now I am scared of 300 kilovolts entering through my head and leaving through some of my more important appendages. I have a hard time seeing this as unreasonable.

But I am a courageous Canadian warrior, so I know how to deal with lightning when it strikes. When I hear thunder I courageously cover my head in blankets and courageously turn my iPod to full volume so that I might courageously pretend the storm is not happening. You know when you see a big-eyed dog trembling under the couch because of thunderclaps? I'm underneath that dog, whispering, "Keep me safe, Zoe. Good girl."

Courage, my word.

I'm here to help you be brave, too, reader(s), so be sure to arm yourself with safety advice:

- Stand your ground. Lightning is as scared of you as you are of it.
- Avoid all conversations about God and irony.
- If it's the Tampa Bay Lightning, dump the puck in and get a good cycle going off the forecheck.
- If you start to feel scared, try aversion therapy. Once you are struck by lightning five or six times, your body will begin to acclimatize.
- If you hear a Muppet counting, take cover immediately.

If you still have concerns despite these tips, you can always seek me out for support. But don't call or email, because I won't use anything plugged in during a storm. Visit me instead. I'll be under the dog.

Worth mentioning

REDWOOD CITY, CALIF. Two women described by a prosecutor as "marijuana grannies" were jailed on allegations that they were growing hundreds of pot plants in their San Bruno home, authorities said late Tuesday.

Aleen Lam, 72, and Virginia Chan Pon, 65, were arrested Friday after neighbours called police to report a burglary, said San Mateo County district attorney Steve Wagstaffe.

When officers arrived, they found the door had been kicked in and nobody was home.

Through the broken door, police could see marijuana growing inside the house, Wagstaffe said.

Police obtained a search warrant and found 800 marijuana plants, $3,000 in cash and an electrical bypass that allowed the women to tap into a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. power line to steal electricity, Wagstaffe said.

"This has not happened in the 34 years that I've been here," he said in describing the operation and the suspects' ages.

One man's trash may be another man's home

Albuquerque, N.M., authorities arrested a homeless man for failing to notify them that he moved out of the industrial trash bin he listed as his address.

KOB-TV reports Charles Mader is a convicted sex offender and is required to give the Bernalillo County Sheriff's Department a physical address.

Detectives say Mader violated his sex offender registration requirement after moving out of the dumpster and failing to report the move within 10 days.

On Monday, deputies found Mader at a homeless shelter and arrested him.

Mader told KOB he wasn't familiar with some of the registration rules. Bernalillo County authorities say they have told Mader what the rules are repeatedly.

Sheriff's officials say Mader could face up to three years in jail for failing to register for a third time.

Struggles have inspired Ko's music

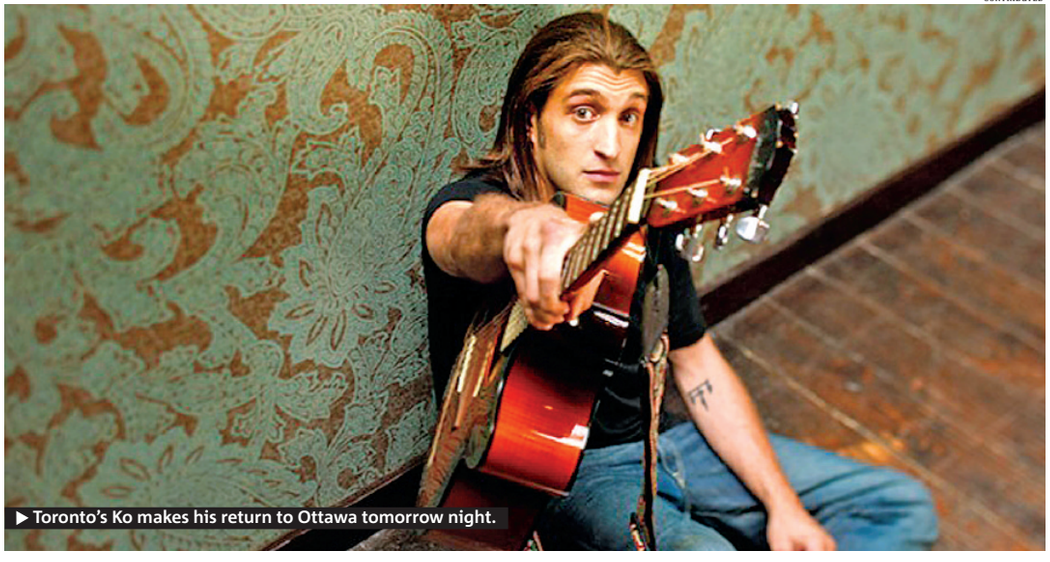
CONTRIBUTED



▶ Toronto's Ko makes his return to Ottawa tomorrow night.

BACKSTAGE PASS

JEN TRAPLIN
METRO OTTAWA

In just a short amount of time, Ko Kapches, better known as Ko, has learned a lifetime of lessons. By the age of 14, he was living on the streets, using and dealing drugs before winding up in rehab. He started writing and recording music in his late teens. By 2006, he was signed to Atlantic Records in New York and their Canadian affiliate, Warner Music Canada. His debut album Let's Blaze was released two years ago. Now 25 years old, Ko says a lot has changed even since then.

"When I was writing that record and when that record came out I was just getting out of rehab, dealing with the Toronto Police department. I was a hooligan when I was a kid so I don't plan on going back to that," he explains.

Ko says the music he's making now is more about looking at the mistakes he's made, rather than being in the thick of it. And, even though a lot has changed for Ko personally, his musical style remains the same — a blend of hip hop, alternative and grunge; all of the genres that influenced him early on.

"Growing up in Toronto, it was easy to get all of those elements," says Ko. "I was big into the rap scene when I was younger. I went to a lot of punk concerts, I love reggae. Everything just got mixed together in a big pot."

With the past in mind, Ko is now moving forward with a renewed commitment to help his fans in any way he can.

"If someone is going out of their way to tell me about the pain they've been through, I feel like I should give back," explains Ko. "Just before I got this call from you, I got an email from someone whose boyfriend is addicted to crack. I've been trying to get in touch with them to get them into a show in Vancouver. It could make this person's day."

You can see Ko tomorrow night at Capital Music Hall (128 York St.), along with fellow Canadians Daniel Wesley with Rebel Emergency. Get your tickets through TicketMaster.

Blood Pressures rising

The Kills return to doing what they do best — make great music ● New sound defies their traditional vibe

SHAWN BRACKBILL
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

After a decade together and four solid records to show for it, the Kills may have gone from a small-room buzz band to a large venue spectacle — but, at their core, few things have changed for singer Alison Mosshart and guitarist Jamie Hince.

"When we started out, we used to rehearse in a soundproof cupboard that a carpentry company made for us," says Hince. "The stages got bigger, but the electricity between Alison and I is the most important part, and it exists on any sized stage."

While the two have never had trouble turning heads on their own, their recent time apart has brought even more attention to the band. Mosshart was recruited by Jack White to be the singer of his latest project, the Dead Weather, while Hince spent much of his time dodging the relentless paparazzi that become an everyday reality when you're dating Kate Moss.

Regrouping in 2009, the Kills holed up in rural Michigan to record Blood Pressures. Released earlier this month, the album features a gospel choir and continues to defy the sonic limitations associated with being a two-piece.

"I've always been thinking about how to expand our sound," says Hince. "If we just continue on with drums, guitar and vocals, all we can do is write different songs and play them in the same format."

Remake, remodel

Hince says he found inspiration for the new Kills sound from Roxy Music's debut.

"I love the way that that record is so emotive and they use all these different instruments to target different heartstrings that a guitar can't," he says.

"So I started thinking about how we could do that. I tried to figure out how to make the guitar sound like an organ. ... Then I started on the thought of using gospel singers to get a different feeling. Then I bought a mellotron! I just wanted to get lost in it all and write songs with different instruments. With Alison on the road I had more time to experiment. I was making mistakes that I wasn't afraid to make."

SMALL SCREEN TEENAGE DREAMS

Darren Criss isn't even officially a full-time cast member on Glee, yet he's one of the most popular stars on the Fox TV show.

The actor made his debut last fall as Blaine Anderson, a gay student at Dalton Academy where Chris Colfer's character, Kurt, transfers after being bullied out.

His performance of a version of Katy Perry's Teenage Dream quickly became one of the show's most popular performances to date.

Viewers were smitten, and the 24-year-old was quickly written into most of the season's final episodes.

Your performances are so popular on Glee. What's it like to be on an album?
They're all incredible songs, so I really enjoyed them all. I worked super hard. If people are enjoying them I'm glad because it's not something that I took lightly, so I'm really happy.

What would you like to see on Glee that hasn't happened yet?
I would really love it to start in the summer because I want to see what these kids are up to when they're not in school ... I always joke that everyone in Glee is like family-less. I don't know how they're gettin' around. They're like 15, 16 years old (laughs).

When did you realize your first appearance on the show was a big deal?
I don't watch a lot of TV. I'm really busy so I wasn't really feeling it. I was living in my little ... apartment. It was really dirty.

Nothing really manifested itself in an immediate way. I still had laundry to do, bills to pay. Any successes it may have garnered it didn't hit me (laughs) at all so it was this very intangible thing. People were like, "It's doing really well" and I was like, "OK, great."

Do you have plans to release a solo album?
I was kind of at a crossroads right before I started Glee. I was literally about to throw in the towel with acting because music was proving itself sort of more mentally, spiritually and financially lucrative. I started a theatre company in Chicago, Team StarKid, and my EP Human started doing really well (it charted on Billboard) and that was gonna be my life. Glee has both empowered and complicated that whole process. Whatever album I was about to put out got put aside for a little bit. It'll happen eventually.

Shania Twain is speaking out for the first time about husband Mutt Lange's alleged affair.

"I didn't want to kill myself but I didn't want to live," Twain told Oprah Winfrey in an interview.

"Our lives were intertwined in every respect and I really was completely shocked."

Lange allegedly became intimate with Marie-Anne Thiébaud, who worked at the couple's Swiss chateau.

"By not understanding and not knowing the details your imagination is left to run wild," Twain says of the rumors. "I never got the details. I phoned Marie-Anne and did everything I could to get the details out of her and she changed her number and that was it."

When I'm not working, I'm one of those people who calls up their entire phone book to say, 'Hey, what are you doing? Are you doing anything tonight? Can I go with you?' I just hang there (in my hotel room) and get drunk. It's terrible." METRO

Gomez wants to be open about dating Bieber

KEEP IT COOL Selena Gomez is tired of keeping quiet about her relationship with Justin Bieber.

"I don't like hiding," she tells Seventeen magazine. "I do like to keep certain things to myself, but at the end of the day, I'm 18, and I'm going to fall in love. I'm going to hang out with people, and I'm going to explore myself, and I'm OK with that."

And while she's enjoying being with Justin — even referring to the Oscars as their "prom" — she wouldn't say she's in love just yet. METRO

Nailing that '70s look

Skip the literal, costume-y stuff, like bell bottoms Go for the silky dresses or breezy wide leg denim instead

KENYA HUNT
LIFE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN LONDON

In case you haven't noticed, '70s-style maxi dresses and flared jeans are ruling spring. But here's the thing about decade comebacks.

First, they come fast and furious. For example, next fall will be all about the 60s — A-line dresses and skirts (and to a lesser extent, 90s grunge.) So choose wisely which disco-flavoured looks to invest in and resist the urge to blindly follow the trend cycle.

458696

Nothing feels worse than pulling something out of your closet and realizing it feels dated merely six months after you've bought it.

Second, you don't want to interpret these decade-specific moments too literally. Search through the attic for your mom's old silk blouses and flowy dresses.

But stay far, far away from her bell bottoms — that is, unless you want people to think you're in costume. It's about updating the look in a modern way.

Think Diana Ross's daughter, Tracee, wearing one of her mother's old dresses with a pair of Vivienne Westwood boots on a sunny stroll in L.A., rather than Diana herself in a kimono dripping candle wax down her chest and screaming "I'm a winner baby!" in that 1970s classic Mahogany.

As far as longevity goes, I've put my money on the season's billowy dresses, which nod to the sexy, good-time vibe the decade is known for, but stops just short of camp.

I like that they give you just the slightest hint of Bianca Jagger at Studio 54, not to mention they can easily move from the office to a summer rooftop party.

Design expert Karl Lohnes offers tips to help you keep your mother styled in colour this spring

Make sure to get your mom more than just a fancy card

DESIGN CENTRE

KARL LOHNES
HOME@METRONEWS.CA

This Sunday is the day to celebrate our mothers.

If yours is anything like mine, she'll insist that a fancy card (one that requires additional postage) and a phone call is all she wants.

My mom is not only getting a card, but a few stylish and useful items that will help keep her on trend around the house.

This spring's big trend includes a huge burst of colour on home accessories, so I've rounded up a roster of colourful goodies for mom that will be sure to make her the envy of next week's bridge game.

ALL PHOTOS CONTRIBUTED

Fun on the porch
Let mom relax in this retro favourite, recreated from the original 1940s design.

Durable construction in rolled steel offers a classic, bouncy action glide with a thoroughly modern powdercoat finish in punchy grass-green and bright white.

Motel Double Glider, Crate and Barrel, $225.

Flashback tabletop
The iconic 1970s fashion designer Diane Von Furstenberg has resurfaced onto the home decor scene with a tabletop product collection evoking her wild prints and mix-matched looks of the '70s.

Why not give mom a few useful memories from that fashionable era in a way that will brighten up the house.

Tabletop items from $30, exclusively at The Bay.

2011's trend colour
The stand mixer is a kitchen staple and if mom hasn't updated hers in years, then this is the one to get.

KitchenAid has updated it with a funky pink called Raspberry Ice and added a glass bowl so she can see how the batter is beating.

A percentage of the cost of KitchenAid's pink appliances goes toward the Canadian Breast Cancer Foundation and almost $2 million has been raised so far.
$549.99, Sears

Punch of colour
Sears has its own brand of towels that are bursting with juicy colours. It's an easy way to add summer pizzazz to a bathroom.

Not sure which brights to choose?

Just look at the colours in mom's bathroom and choose the brighter version from Style Factory, Sears, from $16.

Slatkin candles
Harry Slatkin is the world's leader regarding all things candles and his collection of Summer Berry scents will have mom dreaming of making jams and jellies well before the berries hit the market.

Fresh Summer Berry scents will keep mom's place smelling like a summer garden come rain or shine.

Ripe Berry and Blueberry candle pots, $12 and up, Bath and Body Works.

Make your own planter boxes

Don't have a big backyard to garden? Read on

ISTOCK

▶ Planter boxes can take many shapes, the most common being rectangular.

DIY IDEAS

Garden centres are stocking up and it's nearly time to move indoor seedlings outside.

Many gardeners opt to transplant seedlings into a planter box.

Planter boxes are easy to make and are especially useful for those with little or no backyard. DIY Network Canada's Yard Crashers (airing Tuesdays at 8 p.m. ET/ 5 p.m. PT) offers a basic step-by-step guide to constructing your own planter box.

Make a Plan

The first steps are to figure out a shape and size for the planter box. Planter boxes can take many shapes, but the most common is rectangular. When determining the size of the planter box, consider taking an inventory of any scrap wood that is lying around. It will be more cost effective to make a planter box using the wood you already have. Any type of wood is suitable, but pressure-treated wood makes the box more durable.

Saw and Screw

A rectangular planter box will require two equal-in-size pieces of wood to act as the box's length and two equal-in-size pieces of wood to act as the box's width.

If purchasing wood, consider asking the merchant to cut the wood to your required size.

If you're using scrap wood, put on safety goggles and cut the wood using a table saw.

Sand down the edges where the wood has been cut.

Arrange the pieces in the rectangular shape and fasten together using a screwdriver and wood screws.

Bottoms Up

When adding a bottom to the planter box, first think about where you're going to place it outside. If it's going onto grass or soil, hammer a piece of lattice to the bottom. The holes in the lattice will encourage drainage and any spillage will be absorbed by the grass or soil. If the planter box is going on a balcony or a deck, then attach a solid piece of wood to the bottom of the box with wood screws and drill four three-quarter inch holes into the bottom.

Add a layer of gravel before adding soil and transplanting the seedlings to assist with drainage.

Big design for tiny spaces

Interior design star offers tips on making your shoebox pad feel bigger

JENADY GARSHOFSKY
LIFE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN NEW YORK

Don't let your little apartment undermine the potential for big design. Interior design star Candice Olson knows her way around this dilemma and others.

On her W Network show, Candice Tells All, she transforms all sorts of homes — but we're interested in how she magically makes those shoebox pads feel more spacious. From adding lights to hanging drapes, design is based on getting creative when you don't have much to work with, explains Olson.

She shows us how.

Shopping for a sofa

"The most important element to keep in mind is the size of the arms," Olson advises.

If you opt for big, rolled arms, you won't be able to seat as many people.

But, if you choose simple and narrow track arms, you can probably fit another person on your couch.

For a small space, you should never pick a sofa that is more than 84 inches in length and 36 inches in depth.

Creating an illusion

- Place a floor mirror opposite to the window for the illusion of extra light and depth.
- Lighting tricks, such as adding lights to the perimeter of the room instead of the centre, make the room appear larger.
- Flowing drapery gives the illusion of having bigger windows.
- The placement of mirrors is key. "You can expand a space if you back cabinets with mirrors," says Olson.

BRANDON BARRÉ

▶ Candice Olson is the star of the W Network's Candice Tells All.

Smart furniture

- When it comes to furniture, think "double-duty," says Olson.

"Use your ottoman for seating and storage to remove clutter."

- Mount your television on to the wall.
- "When you have little space horizontally, you have to maximize it vertically," explains Olson. She recommends adding floor-to-ceiling bookshelves, which draw your eyes up.

Olson's essentials

- A simple, classic, small-scale sofa.
- 6x9 or 5x7 rugs to anchor furniture.
- Handcrafted pillows to take you out of the big box-store feeling.
- A fantastic lamp.

Fire pits are moving beyond the basic bowl

FIRE PIT ART/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Our first fire pit was a simple metal bowl, like a giant wok, perched on a metal stand.

We've enjoyed many pleasant evenings sitting around a crackling blaze, finding humour in the incongruity of a campfire in the middle of suburbia.

Marshmallows have been roasted, songs sung. The pit becomes evening entertainment, everyone intently watching the dancing flames.

But in the few years since fire pits hit the market, designers have really begun to, well, design them.

Now you can have one built into your dining table. Add a grill and host a teppanyaki (Japanese barbecue) supper. Or you can co-ordinate the pit with the rest of your backyard decor.

Sleek, powder-coated models are more furniture than utility. And with a variety of flame sources to choose from, you can now place your fire pit just about anywhere, including small balconies and swimming pools.

Take, for example, the coffee-table fire pit designed by John Xochihua of Portland, Ore., with a laser-cut, powder-coat steel top that's sleek and chic.

"Since fire is completely organic, I wanted to bring asymmetry and organic shapes into my design," he says. "When you combine a fire element and a table, there are many more design considerations. The table becomes interactive, a focal point, a place to gather, much as fire has been for millennia."

Rick Wittrip of Lebanon, Tenn., has designed the Third Rock fire pit, which has fire emanating from cutouts where the continents would be in a world globe. The piece was featured at the Vancouver Winter Olympics.

Wittrip says he incorporates his skills as a welder, builder and carpenter, but it's the artist's vision leading the way. "When I'm designing, I keep in mind that the fire pit is all about warmth and companionship," he says.

Both Wittrip's and Xochihua's designs are at homeinfatuation.com.

At DancingFire.com, the Fire Dancer fire pit ticks a lot of boxes: Its portability and propane fuel source allow it to be placed anywhere in the yard. You can build it in with rock or brick, or keep it transportable. A nine-kilogram propane bottle keeps the fire going, and a quick turn of the dial shuts everything down.

If you're installing a gas pit, consider using one with glass rocks; single or multi-coloured glass looks amazing lit by the flames, and since no carbon is produced by the gas flame, they stay looking sparkly.

MOTHER'S DAY

ISTOCK IMAGES

Keep it simple with a touching gift

You don't have to break the bank to let mom know you appreciate her ◆ Here are some gift ideas she'll love

NATALIE BAHADUR
CANADIANLIVING.COM

Whether you choose a gift from the heart or from the store, mom is sure to appreciate your gesture of love and gratitude. Here are nine gifts from the heart.

Afternoon tea

Sometimes nothing means more to mom than the gift of your time. This year, simply spend the afternoon with your mom, bonding and reconnecting over a cup of tea or coffee.

Finding the time in your busy schedule to catch Mom up on your life will mean a lot to her.

Get mom online

Depending on your mother's age, she may still be leery of online activities. Spend the afternoon with her setting up accounts on sites that'll help you both stay connected.

A Facebook or Flickr profile can help you to share family photos more easily with her.

Or, she may just want help getting set up to bank online.

Write your mom a letter

Or a poem. No need to get fancy, but putting your sentiments down on paper will give her a lasting gift.

Handmade cards

Gather the kids for a day of crafting some handmade cards for mom. Armed with construction paper, scissors, crayons, pipe cleaners and sparkles, you never know what they'll come up with.

Flowers from the garden

Handpick a selection of favourites from your garden and surprise mom with a beautiful and bountiful bouquet.

Make mom dinner

Or order in. Whichever option you choose is fine as long as mom doesn't have to lift a finger to prepare it — or clean up.

Do mom's errands

Find out what odd jobs mom needs done around the house, and scratch them off her to-do list … whether it's doing some groceries or gardening, or changing a light bulb or an air filter.

Update mom's music

Chances are she hasn't updated her mp3 player with her new favourite songs and deleted those ones she's tired of hearing.

Clean out files mom no longer wants and bring her music library up to date. Add in a few songs that are especially from you to her.

Enjoy a spring picnic

Pack up a basket with sandwiches, drinks and a sweet treat for dessert and head out with mom for a Sunday afternoon in the park.

Whatever you decide, she'll be happy you had her in mind.

Holy Crêpes! In a few steps

Berry Sauce:
- 2 cups fresh strawberries
- 1 cup frozen blueberries
- 1/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1 tbsp cornstarch
- 1 tbsp water

Crêpe Batter:
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/4 tsp salt
- 3 eggs
- 1 1/4 cups milk
- 2 tbsp butter

Ricotta filing:
- 1 tub ricotta cheese
- 1 cup cottage cheese
- 2 tbsp brown sugar
- 1 tsp grated orange
- 2 tbsp orange juice

Mother's Day is right around the corner, and you can never go wrong when your gift includes good food, especially when you make it yourself! Why not invite your mom over for brunch?

Recipe expert Emily Richards recommends these delightful crêpes. Serve with a salad and warm rolls. Mom is sure to love them.

Ricotta Crêpes with Berry Sauce

These crêpes are perfect for any brunch because they can be made ahead and filled with your own creations!

Preparation Crêpes:

1. In a bowl combine flour and salt. Whisk the eggs, milk and butter. Whisk into flour mix until smooth. Cover the batter and refrigerate for 1 hour. Strain mix into a bowl.
2. Heat a small nonstick skillet or crepe pan over medium heat. Brush with some oil. Pour scant 1/4 cup (50 mL) batter into the centre of the pan, swirling the pan to ensure it is totally coated.
3. Cook for about 1 minute or until bottom is light golden. Turn and cook for 30 seconds. Transfer to plate. Repeat with remaining batter.

Make-ahead: Stack the crêpes between waxed paper, wrap and refrigerate for up to 3 days or freeze for up to 1 month.

Ricotta filling:

1. In a food processor, puree together the ricotta and cottage cheeses, sugar, orange rind and juice.
2. Spoon the ricotta mixture in centre of the crepe.
3. Fold crepe in half then half again. Repeat with remaining crêpes.

Make-ahead: Layer in a baking dish, cover and refrigerate for up to 1 day. Bake in 325 F (160 C) oven for 15 minutes or until hot. Serve with warm Berry Sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Berry Sauce:

This sauce can be made ahead and refrigerated for up to 4 days.

ALL WOMEN ARE MOTHERS

MOTHER'S DAY

DARREN KRAUSE
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

I have a lot of moms. And, I bet if you think about it, you do too.

Each one of the moms in my life is unique — and in their own specialness, they've provided me with a series of gifts I can take with me into the future.

Sister-in-law: The mother of my niece and keeper of my younger brother, she provides for me the comfort of knowing those closest to me are taken care of. Her vision for her family is steadfast and focused; a perfect ballast for my sometimes starry-eyed brother. She has taught me to be open and accepting and that life is bigger than just what's out my front door.

Mother-in-law: She's embraced my two children from a previous marriage like grandkids of her own. She laid the principle foundation for the woman I've partnered with for the rest of my life. The fact that mom-in-law is the primary target of my sarcastic joking and takes it all in stride makes her value limitless.

My wife: Try living with a neurotic, workaholic journalist. That alone deserves the Medal of Honour. But she's given me stability, she's given me her love — she's given me a beautiful son — she is a willing witness to my life. Perhaps most important, she is my reality check. She snaps me back into place when I'm outta line like any good mom would.

Mom: My true birthplace. It's hard to imagine the turbulence of our relationship when I was young because it's in such stark contrast to our connection today.

My mom is a rock for our family. She's been my biggest supporter and ally during times when I'm right and when I'm wrong. In times of gravest uncertainty, she has always offered the stability and security I've needed.

All your moms — your mothers, sisters, aunts and grandmas — are treasures. So how shall we reward them this weekend?

Let's start with a pledge to provide to them the same gifts they give to us freely the other 364 days a year: unconditional love and support, and a cuff when we need it.

It's the least they deserve this Mother's Day.

▶ Whether she's your sister, your friend, your aunt or your hairdresser, every woman can be motherly.

Donate in her honour

Help another mother

Reader Alicia Pereira decided to honour her mom by sponsoring a child in Africa in her name. "I want her to know that her gift will help one mother in Africa gain access to medical treatment and counselling, which will help prevent the transmission of HIV to her son or daughter," she wrote in a letter to the editor. "I know it will be a gift she will be proud to receive, especially since she passed her desire to help change the world for the better on to me."

Cinco de Mayo faves with a modern twist

Many celebrate this holiday with traditional Mexican cuisine These two recipes employ the staples but also add some very unique ingredients

The flesh of a ripe Hass avocado is so luxuriously buttery and creamy you know from the first bite that it's loaded with fat.

The great news is that it nevertheless is good for you. The fat that's in an avocado is mostly the healthier monounsaturated kind, similar to olive and nut oils. Avocados also contain loads of healthful nutrients and antioxidants.

And if all these nutritional bonuses weren't enough, research has shown that adding avocado to a plain green salad helps your body absorb more of the nutrients from the other ingredients.

Still, even good fats are high in calories. So for this recipe we figured out a way to get all the benefits of avocado while cutting a bit of the fat.

This bright green sweet pea and avocado guacamole is a spring-inspired version of the classic dip, and has a fresh, crisp flavour that is brightened by plenty of fire-roasted chilies, lime juice and chopped fresh cilantro.

The sweet baby peas lighten the guacamole while adding impressive amounts of vitamins. Use this dip as you would a traditional guacamole.

Sweet Pea & Avocado Guacamole

Here's a new twist on a party appetizer favourite. Be sure to have lots of tortilla chips handy for guests to dip into this green dip.

Ingredients:

- 2 cups (500 mL) frozen baby peas, thawed
- 1 avocado
- 1 small red onion, finely chopped
- 1 can (4 oz/125 mL) fire-roasted green chilies, drained
- 1/4 cup (60 mL) lime juice
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/2 tsp (2 mL) ground cumin
- 1/4 tsp (1 mL) salt
- 2 tbsp (30 mL) chopped fresh cilantro

Preparation:

1. In a food processor, puree the peas, avocado, onion, chilies, lime juice, garlic, cumin and salt until they are smooth. Scrape down the sides of the processor bowl with a rubber spatula as you need.
2. Pulse in the cilantro until it is just blended.
3. Serve the guacamole with tortilla chips, veggies or any other appetizers that are ideal for dipping. This recipe makes about 2 1/2 cups (625 mL) or 12 servings of Sweet Pea and Avocado Guacamole.

Chicken & Peanut Quesadillas

The fresh taste of these quesadillas and the ease with which they're made will ensure they're a favourite at your dinner table all year round.

The quesadillas are made with staples such as chicken, cheese, corn and red pepper. But they add an untraditional ingredient in their use of peanuts.

The peanuts offer a nice crunch to the texture of the melted cheese, soft filling and tortillas.

Preparation:

1. In a large bowl, combine the cooked chicken, cheese, peanuts, corn, red pepper and coriander. Cut a lime in half and squeeze the juice of one half over top. Add half the adobo sauce and stir. Add more if desired.
2. Brush a large non-stick skillet lightly with oil. Set over medium heat. Add 1 tortilla to pan. Spoon about 1 cup (250 mL) of filling over half the tortilla. Fold other half over filling, pressing together. Cook for about 2 minutes or until underside of tortilla is golden brown. Carefully, turn and cook other side for about 2 minutes or until golden brown. Keep warm in the oven. Repeat with remaining tortillas and filling.
3. Slice each into 4 wedges. Serve with sour cream, guacamole and salsa on the side.

NEWSCANADA/ PEANUTBUREAU.CA

Ingredients:

- 3 cups (750 mL) shredded cooked chicken
- 2 cups (500 mL) shredded Tex Mex or Mexican cheese blend
- 3/4 cup (175 mL) peanuts, coarsely chopped
- 1/2 cup (125 mL) frozen corn, thawed
- 1/2 cup (125 mL) roasted red pepper, patted dry and chopped

- 1 lime
- 1 to 2 tsp (5 to 10 mL) chipotle chilli in adobo sauce, minced
- Vegetable oil
- 4 to 6 large flour tortillas

Ideal after-the-prom breakfast

These French toast muffins won't hinder your teen's too-cool-to-be-bothered attitude They can grab and go

The prom, that end-of-high-school rite in which teenagers stuff themselves into outfits guaranteed to give their children a laugh 20 years down the road, is getting its own corollary, the post-prom event.

Whether it takes the form of a breakfast party in a private home or a community event, the idea is to provide a fun way to extend the night no one wants to end — and to increase safety at the same time.

458696

"Prom and graduation are the times of year that kids are traditionally most vulnerable," says Penny Wells, executive director of Students Against Drunk Driving. "The idea sprang up that schools or other community organizations would try to keep kids in a safe place for the entire night."

If you're hosting a post-prom breakfast party for your child, keep in mind that portability and appeal are equally important for teenagers.

French toast can be a wholesome meal, but the need to sit down with a plate and fork can sometimes hinder their too-cool-to-be-bothered attitude. Cooking it in muffin cups is a solution.

This version includes a layer of maple breakfast sausage, but you can leave that out if you prefer, or substitute a few berries or thinly sliced apples.

▶ These French toast muffins are great for teens. They can eat them on the go.

Preparation:

1. Heat oven to 180 C (350 F). Line a 12-cup muffin tin with paper liners.
2. In a large skillet over medium-high, cook sausage until lightly browned and cooked through, 5 to 7 minutes. Let cool slightly.
3. Using a round 5-cm (2-inch) cookie cutter, cut 4 rounds from each slice of bread.
4. In bowl, whisk eggs, milk, salt, cinnamon and maple syrup. Dip rounds of bread in egg mixture and place 2 rounds in the bottom of each muffin cup. Crumble about 15 ml (1 tbsp) of the sausage into each cup. Add 2 more rounds of egg-dipped bread to each of the muffins. Sprinkle the tops with maple sugar.
5. Bake for 25 to 30 minutes or until puffed and golden brown. Serve warm.

Prairie Scene: Paddock Wood 606

Saskatchewan's only craft brewer offers up a brilliant India Pale Ale

JEFF O'REILLY
OTTAWA@METRONEWS.CA

While we've been treated to an invasion of unbelievable music and arts from the Prairie Scene, I thought this would be the right time to sing the praises of another gem from that region – Saskatchewan's first and only craft brewer and their brilliant IPA – Saskatoon's Paddock Wood Brewing 606!

India Pale Ales (IPA) is a popular style of beer that originated in England. When the Brits would ship their very popular Pale Ales to the troops abroad as far away as India, most of the beer would spoil. So by adding additional hops (a natural preservative) to the brew, the beer would not only survive the journey, but arrive tasting better than most of the ales of the day would have if you were drinking them fresh at the brewery.

In Paddock Wood, Kent, England the town motto is "Railway brings prosperity." Steve Cavan's brewery, in Saskatoon is located in a rail district so this tie-in is featured on the fetching 606 label. Just like any railway, Cavan's story on the road from home brew supplier to full production brewery is filled with plenty of twists and turns. Federal permits, SLGA permissions, bottling lines and ongoing equipment upgrades as well as creating exciting and unique brews like Black Cat black lager, Czech Mate Pilsner, Bete Noire Dark Ale and Heartstopper Hot Chocolate Stout, has kept him very busy indeed.

The liquid itself is a lightly carbonated deep amber orange with a thin white head. The nose is quite appealing with pleasant caramel, grapefruit and citrus notes, which are all evident in the taste along with a unique balance of delicious malty richness and aromatic medium hop bitter finish. This beer is definitely sensational.

Cavan says, "Life's too short to drink bad beer" and he's doing his part to make sure that doesn't have to happen!

Paddock Wood 606 is available at select Beer Stores.

Portable Pizza With Pizzazz

The Flatbread Pizza Company offers the healthiest, freshest, locally produced pizza ingredients

As the Ottawa Farmers Market has grown over the years, so have the varieties of things available there. It was with great surprise that I discovered Mark Snyder and his 4,000-pound wood-fired pizza oven.

Firing at 600 degrees, the tiled oven and Snyder's efficient team pumped out over 100 eight-inch personal pizzas – each one delivered to delighted diners in just over one minute.

Three pizzas were on the menu: margherita, (herbed oil, tomatoes and cheese), nitrate-free bison pepperoni with mozzarella and a grilled vegetable with goat's cheese. They flew from the oven as quickly as they were ordered and from the looks on the faces eating them – he's delivering something that will grow into another huge hit at the market.

They weren't sure quite what to expect on their first day at market. "We didn't think we'd start selling until 11a.m." shared Snyder. "It was quite a surprise when we found out people wanted pizza at 9 a.m."

DOWN ON THE FARM

With the Ottawa Farmer's Market opening this past weekend, we asked Honey Farmer, Mike Kositsin to ask himself 5 questions:

How can honey used? Honey is unique in its antibacterial and healing properties. It's also in beauty products; Cleopatra bathed in milk and honey to keep her skin soft. When cooking, you can substitute 1 cup of sugar for ¾ cup of honey to any recipe.

Why is your honey different from big companies? Local honey is medicinal in fighting allergies. Pollen in the honey is specific to your region. Our honey is the freshest seasonally possible. From the hive to your plate, in less than 100 km.

Why do we need honeybees? Bees don't just make honey, they pollinate the flowers that they are harvesting nectar from.

What is honey made of? Honey is a natural product made from plant nectar by honeybees. The conversion of nectar into honey involves one physical and two chemical changes. The physical change involves removing moisture. The enzymes added are glucose oxidase, which prevents the growth of microbes in the nectar, and invertase, which breaks the sucrose sugar molecules into two simple sugars, glucose and fructose.

Why did you become a beekeeper? I learned beekeeping from my grandfather, Harry G. Toop. He had been a beekeeper in the Ottawa Valley his entire life, and remembered learning how to catch a swarm from his mother. I have been fortunate enough to learn from him before he passed away last August, and am proud to be following in his large footsteps.

Canucks look to take hefty lead

Win tonight and they head back to Vancouver up 3-1 in series

CANUCKS | PREDATORS

Time: 8:30 p.m.
Channel: CBC

The Vancouver Canucks head into Game 4 of their Western Conference semifinal series against Nashville with home-ice advantage back on their side.

Not that they need it.

The Canucks had almost identical home and away records during the regular season and say they feel comfortable no matter where the game is being played.

"For us it doesn't really matter if we are at home or on the road," goaltender Roberto Luongo said. "We have the same record this year."

Vancouver's 3-2 overtime victory over the Predators Tuesday gave the Canucks a 2-1 advantage in the best-of-seven series and a chance tonight to go home with a commanding lead.

"We got the job done last night to take control of the series, and now Game 4 we can really make a statement that we want the series to end," Canucks forward Chris Higgins said. "We need to come out with that mindset to snag another one here."

Luongo liked the way his team bounced back from Saturday's double-overtime defeat.

"We did want to come back with a win right away and make sure we re-establish position in the series," he said.

For that to happen the Canucks will have to win again in front of a raucous Nashville crowd.

"Last night the crowd was amazing and we were able to find a way to get it done," said Canucks forward Alex Burrows. "We just have to go out there and prove it again tomorrow."

One issue that should not be a problem for the Canucks is overconfidence. Their quarter-final series against the defending-champion Chicago Blackhawks, when Vancouver won the first three games before dropping the next three, is still fresh in their mind.

They went on to win the decisive seventh game, but for a team with aspirations of winning the Cup this season, they have to keep improving.
